

Liquid Bloom Full Bio:

Liquid Bloom, founded by producer and sonic alchemist Amani Friend (co-founder of Desert Dwellers and curator of the Desert Trax label), is a visionary world-electronic project dedicated to creating immersive, transformative sound experiences. Born in the late 1990s from explorations in organic trance music for healing, the project has evolved into a global bridge between ancient traditions and modern production, offering listeners portals into ceremony, dance, and deep inner journeys.

Liquid Bloom's music merges shamanic instrumentation, ethereal vocals, and sacred world traditions with cutting-edge electronic textures.

Collaborations with artists such as Poranguí, Mose, Deya Dova, Ixchel Prisma, Savej, and many others have shaped an ever-expanding body of work that seamlessly flows between meditative ambient, ecstatic dance floor energy, and ceremonial soundscapes. This versatility has made Liquid Bloom equally at home headlining international festivals like Ozora, Boom, Envision, Rainbow Serpent, and Colours of Ostrava, as well as anchoring wellness modalities, psychedelic therapy journeys, breathwork immersions, cacao ceremonies, and ecstatic dances across the globe.

Beyond music, Liquid Bloom has become a vessel for conscious culture and transformational work. The project has woven sound around spoken-word pieces by visionaries such as Paul Stamets, Dr. Joe Dispenza, and Ram Dass, carrying wisdom traditions into modern contexts through music. In addition, the Desert Trax label, co-founded by Amani, has served as a platform for like-minded artists, expanding the reach of these healing frequencies worldwide.

At its essence, Liquid Bloom creates sonic sanctuaries, spaces for listeners to connect with their bodies, emotions, and spirit while also fostering collective resonance. The music serves as both a ritual tool and a dance catalyst, reminding audiences that sound can be prayer, medicine, and celebration all at once. With each release and performance, Liquid Bloom continues to push the boundaries of sonic exploration, offering an enchanting auditory experience that invites healing, connection, and transformation.

Medium:

Liquid Bloom, founded by producer Amani Friend (Desert Dwellers | Desert Trax), is a visionary world-electronic project that bridges ancient traditions with modern production to create immersive, transformative sound journeys. Emerging in the late '90s from explorations in organic trance for healing, it has grown into a global vessel for ceremony, dance, and inner exploration, merging shamanic instrumentation, ethereal vocals, and sacred world traditions with cutting-edge electronics.

Collaborating with artists like Poranguí, Mose, Deya Dova, Ixchel Prisma, and Savej, Liquid Bloom has appeared at international festivals such as Ozora, Boom, Envision, and Rainbow Serpent, while also serving as a soundtrack for breathwork, psychedelic therapy, cacao ceremonies, and ecstatic dance gatherings. Its music, which has featured voices like Paul Stamets, Dr. Joe Dispenza, and Ram Dass, continues to offer sonic sanctuaries for healing, connection, and transformation.

Shortest:

Founded by Amani Friend (Desert Dwellers | Desert Trax), Liquid Bloom blends shamanic instrumentation, sacred world traditions, and electronic production to create immersive, healing soundscapes. From festival stages to ceremonies and therapeutic settings, the project offers listeners profound spaces of connection, movement, and transformation.

One-liner:

Liquid Bloom is Amani Friend's visionary world-electronic project, weaving ancient traditions and modern production into transformative sonic journeys.

Socials:

Website: <http://www.liquidbloom.com>

Bandcamp: <http://www.liquidbloom.bandcamp.com>

Instagram: <http://www.instagram.com/liquidbloom>

Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/liquidbloommusic>

Youtube: <http://www.bit.ly/SubscribeLiquidBloom>

Soundcloud: <http://www.soundcloud.com/liquidbloom>